TO THE PRESS, RADIO, TV—My office is prepared to supply your needs for pictures, stories, statistics and any other information and help you request. If you do not receive sufficient material from my regularly-scheduled mailings, please write, wire or call for additional service.

PRESS BOX—Texas Western College's press box has two levels. The lower one is for use by working newspapermen, and the upper level has booths for broadcasts and for scouts. Services include complete play-by-play account of the game plus team and individual statistics. If telegraph service is required, please make arrangements with Western Union. Reservations for broadcasting games must be made well in advance. Requests for scout tickets should be addressed to Ben Collins, athletic director.

PROSPECTS FOR 1959

"Rebuilding" is an overworked cliché in football circles, but it is apropos in the case of Texas Western College, where Coach Ben Collins will have a squad of youngsters to face stronger opposition than last year.

The Miners expect to be an improved team, but they still will be a year or two away from their peak. Reason: most of the key players on the top two units are sophomores and transfers who have much to learn, despite an unusual supply of that invaluable commodity, "hustle."

Collins' expectation of improvement is based on a rejuvenated offense, one that he hopes will be capable of taking some of the pressure off a defense that was exceptionally good last year.

To improve the offense, he has installed a variation of the Winged-T, and has juggled his backfield personnel somewhat to improve the team's power. Last year's first-team running backs averaged little more than 155 pounds, and the Miners found the short yardage to get. Opponents, confident of their ability to check the lighthitting backs, spread their defenses to contain the outside running as well.

Spring practice proved that the running has improved, and that the new formation had been installed with scarcely a hitch. Collins also is confident that the team's short passing will be better, and that factor, in turn, should help the running game even more. Sophomore quarterback Johnny Furman, a left-hander, advanced to the starting unit late in the season, and proved he can call an intelligent game and can hit his targets quickly.

As to the Miners' shortcomings: Collins badly needs a pass receiver who can be a threat to catch the long throws, and also is seeking additional speed in the backfield.

Center, a trouble spot last year, needs more help, and the end positions must be strengthened.

Texas Western's best running threat is Glenn Reed, 175-pound sophomore who played fullback last season. However, little Charles Bradshaw, 160-pounder from Abilene who is exceptionally quick at hitting up the middle, probably will be the team's most consistent gainer.

Newcomer Kent Babb may start at right halfback, and transfers H. A. Cowan, a 215-pound tackle, and Guard Lawrence Hutson, 180-pound junior college product, also were first unit players when spring training closed.

One of the Miners' biggest stumbling blocks is their early-season schedule. After opening against the University of Mexico, they will play North Texas State and the University of New Mexico on successive Saturdays. Each school expects to have its best team in years, and these teams probably are the most powerful opponents on the Miner schedule.

Collins will cure some of his headaches with freshmen, as he has in the past, gradually working the newcomers into key reserve roles and occasionally into the starting lineup.

If his youngsters—the new ones and these returning—can survive the opening weeks of the schedule and continue to improve, then Collins will have accomplished his purpose. He will have put Texas Western on the road back.

MINER COACHES

BEN COLLINS

BEN COLLINS has been part of the Texas Western football picture since 1946, when he joined the coaching staff as assistant to Jack Curtice, under whose guidance he had gained national fame as a tailback at West Texas State College.

Collins became head coach in 1957, and has added the duties of director of athletics this year. His first year as head coach, the Miners had a good, 6-3 record, but inexperience took its toll last year, and the team skidded to a 2-7 mark.

Collins played high school football at Wichita Falls, and his records as a collegiate tailback still stand at West Texas State.

Before becoming head coach, he tutored the Miner backs, and he produced some of the finest players in the history of the college and the Border Conference.

The Miner coach gives equal emphasis to offense and defense, and his teams are noted for their exceptional physical condition.

KENNETH GEORGE, one of the finest linemen ever to play at Texas Western, coaches the guards, tackles and centers. George is a native of Graham, Texas, and lettered four years at tackle and guard for the Miners, captaining the 1956 team that won the Border Conference championship. The former all-conference player is in his third year on the coaching staff.

ROSS MOORE, TWC's fine trainer, is regarded by his associates as one of the most able men in his profession. Moore came to Texas Western as an all-around athlete in 1937, and except for one year of high school coaching and a term of military duty, has been here since.

BILLY BOB PLUMBLEY, backfield coach, is a native of El Paso and a former Texas Western College quarterback. Never blessed with exceptional ability, Plumbley was recognized even in his collegiate days as one of the smartest players ever to perform for the Miners. Plumbley played at TWC from 1950 through 1953 and joined the coaching staff in 1958.

JIMMY WALKER, all-conference end at Texas Western in 1951, coaches the ends. Walker is a native of Merkel, Texas and was head coach at Mason, Texas, for two years. There he produced outstanding teams, winning district championships both seasons. As a college senior, Walker set a school record by catching 40 passes.

OUTLOOK BY POSITIONS

Left End Good speed but little experience here. Soph Paul Paxson, a rangy letterman, is in front with speedy Ken Zaring close behind. Richard Alsup, a soph, is on third unit.

Left Tackle Jimmy Harvey did not letter because of an injury last year as a freshman, but he's counted on to be No. 1 at his spot. He can do the job, and has good backing from experienced, quick Don McGehee. Bill King (222) and Alden George (256) are the subs.

Left Guard John Young, great as a freshman, has recovered from a broken leg and will again lead off this position. Young, speedy and tough, is backed by John Cowan.

Center Billy Riggs, alternate last year, only returning letterman. Subs are Darrell Conger, two-year squadman, soph Kyle Ellis, and freshman Kenneth Baldwin.

Right Guard Seems well fixed with Bill Hannon, speedy, strong senior, and transfer Lawrence Hutson, battling it out for first team. Joe Barnes, fast 195-pound soph, may help.

Right Tackle Big H. A. Cowan (215), a transfer who was a redshirt last season, heads the list here, and support of experienced Jimmy Johnson and soph Ronnie Alldredge will make it a steady position.

Right End Mike Furman, a senior, has the size and experience, and Soph Terry Pratt, 5-8, 165, has the speed. Manlio DeSantis, a senior, adds depth, but overall it could be a trouble spot.

Quarterback All Sophomores at this key position. Johnny Furman (Mike's brother) is a top prospect, but inexperience could hurt. He's backed by clever Gervis Galbraith (150) and Tilmon Kirby (147).

Left Halfback One of stronger backfield spots with Glenn Reed, Jackie Meeks and Del Williams returning. Reed, shifted from fullback in spring, is team's best runner, but experienced Meeks will press him.

Right Halfback Transfer Kent Babb (175) appears to have taken over here, but Larry Meeks (Jackie's brother) played first unit often last year and will be hard to keep back. Big Gene Williams (200, soph) is third man.

Fullback Little Charlie Bradshaw (160) continues to lead this crew. He's been the team's top rusher for past two seasons. Chuck McCalmont (180) has improved, and Jerry Pratt could move up. Both are sophs.
